

Community Conversation: Resiliency to Recovery

Guest speaker David Poses became addicted to heroin at the age of 16. After spending his 19th birthday in rehab, he convinced everyone in his life that he'd gotten clean. The truth is: more than another decade passed before David could honestly say he was sober.

Join David, now 41 and a happily married father of two from New York's Hudson Valley, for an evening about hope, honesty, and an unconventional path to recovery.

Other conversational guests will include: Vermont Director of Drug Prevention Policy, Jolinda LaClair, and Mayor of the City of Burlington, Miro Weinberger, and finally, Dr. Jessica Hauser, for a brief presentation of legislative agenda and discussion focused opiates and kids.

Author David Poses will share experiences from his upcoming memoir, The Kick.
